

Stacey Miller of Mendon is part of Fashion Week in NYC

February 27, 2010

Stacey Miller's hats are currently in the windows of Bergdorf Goodman in New York City as part of Fashion Week. The Mendon resident owns more than 1,000 hats and headdresses from more than 100 countries, and through Hat Horizons uses her collections for education, exhibits and entertainment purposes. Her idea is to show diversity in the world's cultures through her hats. Miller's hats will be on display through March 4 in New York City.

Closer to home, Miller's hats will be part of the Rochester International Women's Day program from 1 to 3:30 p.m. on March 7 at Good Luck Restaurant, 50 Andersen St. They also will be used in the Monroe Community College Diversity Council's "Along the Silk Road" program at 6 p.m. April 15 at the MCC theater.

Go to www.hathorizons.com.

Advertisement

Mom Dilemma #36:
Your daughter insists on wearing her princess costume to the grocery store. Allow it or not?

YES, at least she's dressed!

NO, I have some rules!

momslike me.com
where Local moms meet

Print Powered By  FormatDynamics